GUIDELINES

The American Neurological Association (ANA) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

To complement the 145th Annual Meeting of the ANA, exhibits of the latest developments in equipment, supplies and services available in the marketplace add value to the professionals' learning experiences. Therefore, companies providing relevant goods and services can rent booth or tabletop exhibit space to showcase their products and services.

The ANA strictly adheres to the ACCME's Standards for Commercial Support regarding exhibits, which state:

The distribution or granting of CME credits, in any category, from an exhibit booth is strictly prohibited.

2009 PHARMA CODE

By applying for exhibit space, the commercial interest agrees to adhere to the 2009 PhRMA Code on Interactions with Healthcare Professionals.

The exhibitor agrees that interactions between company representatives and health care providers should be focused on providing information on products and scientific and educational information. The code prohibits distribution of non-educational items such as pens, mugs and other logo-branded items, as well as items for personal benefit (e.g., tickets to recreational or entertainment events).

SPACE ASSIGNMENT

Once an application with full payment is received, the Exhibitor will receive confirmation and all corresponding paperwork regarding uploading instructions and exhibit set-up process.

VIOLATION OF RULES & REGULATIONS

Violation of any of The ANA's regulations may lead to immediate closure of the exhibitor's virtual exhibit, banning of an exhibitor representative, or barring of an exhibitor's representative at future meetings. No monetary adjustments will be made for exhibit shutdowns.
